

(NPF #3) U.S.A. Transportation System

U.S.A. Transportation System

The transportation system in the United States is a vital network comprising roadways, airways, railways, and water networks, facilitating the movement of people and goods across the country. Most of the passenger travel occurs by automobile for shorter distances and by airplanes for longer distances. Cargo primarily travels by railroad, truck, pipeline, or boat, with air shipping reserved for perishable and premium express shipments.
